

Terms and Conditions for the Use of the Travel Characteristics Survey 2022 Database

The user of the Travel Characteristics Survey 2022 Database (hereafter referred to as “the database”) agrees to abide by the following terms and conditions for the use of the database:

1. The user shall use the database solely for the purpose as specified in his request. The database shall not be used for any other purposes without prior consent from the Chief Engineer/Transport Planning of Transport Department.
2. The database shall be used only for providing reference information on the travel characteristics of the people in Hong Kong on a normal weekday in 2022.
3. The data were collected in 2022 and the travel characteristics of the people in Hong Kong will inevitably change as a result of land use developments, implementation of transport infrastructure projects, and other socio-economic changes taken place since 2022. The user shall exercise care and caution when interpreting information from the database.
4. When using and interpreting information from the database, the user shall give due consideration to the sampling framework and data expansion methodology adopted for producing the database because such framework and methodology may impose limitations on the collected information.
5. The user is reminded that the database should be used for comprehensive statistical analysis only and the info in the database should be interpreted on an aggregated basis.
6. The Transport Planning Division of Transport Department shall not be responsible for installing the database onto the user’s computer system or providing any training on the use of the database.
7. The Transport Planning Division of Transport Department gives no warranty that the database is error-free or can be processed on the user’s computer system, and the Government shall in no way be held responsible for any loss or damage which may be suffered by the user or any other person as a result of using the database.